SEPTEMBER 1954.

Hours: Weekdays 8 to 4:30

Sundays: 10 to 4:30

(During Sept.-Oct.)

Now is the time to plant HEATHER! Fall flowering varieties are still in bloom. Winter flowering varieties are in bud. They have all put on new growth which is hardening off now.

HEATHER is one of the most satisfactory groups of plants for the Puget Sound Area. Plant HEATHERS in low hedges, in the shrub border, on sloping banks in place of lawn, in the rock garden, at the edge of walks or driveways, and in outdoor planters.

Our BEST VALUES are offered now. A large number of varieties with a size range of 4 to 8 inches are available at the low price of 69 cents each. These are well grown bushy plants. Also at this price we offer some larger plants where the clearing of a few of them out of growing beds will enable us to make room for extensive new plantings. This is a wonderful opportunity to pick up some bargains, if you ACT NOW!

GROUP I - 69 Cents each:

Bruckenthalia spiculifolia has rosy pink flowers in dense masses.

Calluna vulgaris is the real Scotch Heather. The following varieties are available:

County Wicklow - low growing; double pink; bright green foliage.

Cuprea - golden foliage changing to bright red in winter.

David Eason - reddish flowers in very late fall; 12 inches high.

Foxi nana - purple flowered compact balls of bright green.

Mair's White - clear white flowers, rapid growing plant; 3-feet.

Minima Smith's variety - a mossy low variety with bronze tips to the foliage; lavender flowers.

Mrs. H. E. Beale - double pink flowers in long spikes; fall.

Mrs. Pat - pink tips to the new growth.

Nana - dark green foliage in low mats; excellent for edging.

*Daboecia polifolia (cantabrica) is often called Irish Bell Heather. The large flowers are carried in long spikes. Purple or white flowered.

Erica arborea alpina - delicate foliage on upright growing branches to 5 feet. white flowers in spring; dwarf form of the Tree Heath.

Erica australis Mr. Robert - another white flowered upright growing shrub; March and April is the season for the large flowers.

Erica carnea - Winter Heath - bright rose flowers in January and February; 6 inches.

" " King George - earlier than E. carnea; lavender-rose flowers; 8 inches.

" " Ruby Glow - rich ruby flowers in March and April; 8 inches.

" " vivelli - not so bright as preceding; same bronze foliage.

" " Springwood Pink - pink buds opening to rose in February.

* " " Springwood White - an even greater favorite; light green foliage in lax habit of growth; good ground cover.

Erica cinerea - Fine leaved Heath - stiff slender branches forming a well shaped bush; purple flowers in Aug. & Sept.; will tolerate lots of sun.

Erica cinerea atrosanguinea - low bushes of blackish green; rich red flowers.

Erica hybrida Watsoni - russet tones overlaying green foliage; 8 to 10 inches inches in height; rich rose flowers; July into fall.

Erica tetralix mollis - a stiff little shrub with gray foliage which is excellent for contrast; white flowers sometimes tinged pink; summer.

Erica vagans - Cornish Heath - strong growing horizontally spreading shrub; lilac flowers in long spikes; August and September.

" " Lyonesse - the best white hybrid in this group.

" " Mrs. D. F. Maxwell - rich green foliage contrasts beautifully with the cerise flowers; one of the most popular of all heathers.

GROUP II - 50 Cents each - well grown but young plants in 2½" bands or pots.

This year it has seemed impractical to publish a catalog as we have done in the past. A thousand kinds of plants are not easy to condense into a few short pages of description.

Constant shifting of prices due to changes in stock has made it impossible to stabilize a list. If you will keep this in mind when ordering, it will be appreciated. When possible, please state acceptable substitutes. May we urge all of our good friends and customers to write for quotations on plants or rooted cuttings of those items which are not listed - but which we likely grow. We will do our best to answer promptly. However, it is impossible to give lengthy advice and planting instructions individually.

WATER PLANTS -

	(Each)
Lilies - red, white, yellow, or pink -	$ 1.25
Hyacinth - floating plant for summer only -	.25
Fish greens - whichever types are in season - per bunch	.25
Iris - either yellow or blue-flowered -	.50
Forget-me-not, especially suited to moist soil or water -	.25
Sagittaria sinensis - extends above water with broad leaf -	.25
Sagittaria natans - short, grassy foliage - 6 for -	.25

DICHONDRA REPENS - Common name "Ponyfoot" which each leaf resembles.

A ground cover of great popularity for lawn substitute. The creeping stems root to form a dense mat. It thrives in sunshine and yet adapts itself to shade. May be sown in an old lawn or in newly prepared ground. In the latter case, attention to watering, fertilizing and weeding is essential for the first three months. Only a minimum of attention is required thereafter. Hardiness in the northern states is uncertain. A packet of 12,000 seeds sells for $1.25 postpaid, and will suffice for 300 square feet. Germination time is about six days. Plants are usually available at 50-cents each or $5.00 per dozen - but we do not recommend shipping them any distance.

GROUND COVERS - one of our specialties - individual plants are 25-Cents each;
 $2.50 per dozen. Local trade can pick up a flat (12" x 24") at the dozen price.

- *Ajuga genevensis and Ajuga reptans rubra - fast growing Bugleflower;
 strongly matted roots help prevent erosion.
- *Cotula squalida - bronzed ferny leaves; shade loving.
 Dianthus graniticus, D. coccineus, D. deltoides (Maiden Pink) - rock garden subjects often planted in large masses for best effect.
- Lotus corniculatus - a legume for dry banks with poor soil.
- Mentha requienii - a creeping mint with a tantalizing fragrance.
- Nierembergia rivularis - earns the common name of Queencups by reason of the large white flowers which cover the gray mats in summer.
- *Sagina subulata - looks like moss but has tiny white star flowers;
 suitable for crevices or the spaces between stepping stones.
- *Sedum acre, S. album, S. murale, S. reflexum - all these varieties of Sedum are excellent for covering large areas.
- *Thymus serpyllum - several types are grown but the supply varies with the season. Lavendar, red, or white flowered as well as woolly leaved varieties are usually in stock.
- *Vinca minor - "Periwinkle" or "Creeping Myrtle" - white, blue, (with green or variegated leaves), wine purple and double flowered blue varieties.

GROUND COVERS of slower habit - priced as indicated.

- *Arctostaphylos uva-ursi - "Bearberry" - excellent broadleaved cover;
 second year plants are still quite small but suitable for setting out on one foot or 18-inch spacing - 50-cents each.
- Epimedium macranthum roseum, E. lilacina, E. niveum, E. pinnatum sulphureum - dainty flowers in early spring followed by interesting leaves which color in the fall - 75-cents each.
- *Euonymus radicans minima - tiny thick leaves along trailing stems - 75-Cents
- Polygonum vaccinaefolium - spikes of pink flowers in autumn - 50-cents.
- *Vaccinium vitis-idae - beautiful shiny foliage, edible berries - 50 cents & $1.00.

NOTE: *Indicates persistent winter foliage.
